About our Brand

The Kingston University Town House Strategy sets out the University's strategic ambitions focused on becoming:

The UK's leading university for Future Skills where staff and students are sought after for their skills, knowledge and ability to innovate.

This core proposition is brought to life through the Kingston University brand and is articulated in our Vision, Mission and Values.

The Kingston University Brand Guidance provides access to core content, visual and verbal brand assets and links to useful material to help you support the University and stay 'on brand'.

Our brand in context

A message from Professor Steven Spier, Vice-Chancellor, Kingston University London.

Everyone at Kingston University can take pride in being part of an organisation that is leading the way with a clear vision to ensure that our staff and students are sought after for their skills, knowledge and their ability to innovate.

Our brand plays a central role in helping us to communicate who we are, what we stand for and the experience we want everyone to have whether they are working here, studying here or collaborating with us.

The Kingston University brand provides a strategic framework that enables us to align every aspect of what we do in a way that is straightforward and makes sense to everyone involved with the University, including our stakeholders and collaborators.

The Brand Guidance has been created to help you to communicate who we are and what makes us distinct – quickly, efficiently and powerfully. As we implement our refreshed brand approach, you will see this reflected across our campuses, in our new website, at our events and in our University communications.

Alongside the Brand Guidance, our Values Framework has been designed as a practical tool to support and guide staff with adopting and living our values.

One of our core values is being Ambitious. This applies to how we bring our brand to life across the University. Our overall brand leadership sits with the Board and the University's Senior Leadership Team (SLT) who have endorsed this approach and share an ambition to build ever more successful partnerships here in London and worldwide.

Our brand is key to the success of our Town House Strategy, which sets out our ambitions for the University. It is vital that this is reflected in everything we communicate internally and externally and through the experience of our staff and students at Kingston University.

Professor Steven Spier, Vice-Chancellor, Kingston University London

Our sector-leading Future Skills approach is already making a real impact in the UK and around the world. This revolutionary model, which has been researched, piloted and is now being embedded across the University, is transforming our students' lives.

By equipping them with the essential life skills identified and most valued by business, we are preparing graduates for career success and driving economic growth.

Capitalising on our growing national and international reputation for leading the way with Future Skills, will ensure we are sought after by applicants, staff, partners and investors. In addition, increasing our brand impact will raise the profile of our research and knowledge exchange activity.

Our Brand, Communications and Public Affairs function has responsibility for oversight of the brand across the University and is responsible for brand strategy, development and implementation.

The Brand Guidance will support us to amplify and elevate our brand – and deliver our mission of enhancing students' life chances and strengthening our impact on policy and the professions to enable a sustainable future socially, economically and environmentally.

1.2

How our Town House Strategy embodies our brand

The strategic direction for Kingston University is explained in our Town House Strategy, inspired by our award-winning Town House building.

The Town House is a physical expression of our vision to become ever more ambitious and inclusive. It exemplifies our approach to delivering a progressive model of education that will help new graduates and staff succeed throughout their careers. In effect, the Town House brings our values to life.

Our visionary Town House Strategy is underpinned by our expertise in Future Skills education and commitment to driving advances in research and knowledge exchange through the Knowledge Exchange and Research Institutes (KERIs).

We are moving quickly with this radical and transformative approach and are encouraged that this work is already differentiating us from other institutions across the sector.

Our sector leading Future Skills programme has received cross-party political support and has been the subject of a Westminster Hall debate. It has also been recognised by leading universities as far afield as the Republic of Korea and Singapore, who are looking at how they might work with us on applying our revolutionary approach to higher education.

Find out more on our Town House Strategy SharePoint pages.

“Kingston University’s Town House is a theatre for life – a warehouse of ideas. In this highly original work of architecture, quiet reading, loud performance, research and learning, can delightfully co-exist. That is no mean feat. Education must be our future – and this must be the future of education.”

Norman Foster, Baron Foster of Thames Bank and Jury Chair of RIBA Stirling Prize 2021

How our Future Skills approach aligns with our brand

At the heart of our brand is our Future Skills approach. Future Skills is the way we will prepare our students for the rapidly changing world of work. Through the Town House Strategy we are cementing our position as the UK's leading university for Future Skills, highlighting the urgent need for the essential life skills, most valued by employers, to be embedded across higher education.

Our campaign championing Future Skills has been backed by global businesses including Mastercard, J.P. Morgan, TikTok, Coca-Cola and John Lewis Partnership and has attracted widespread support from parliamentarians, peers and policy makers including senior government ministers.

It is essential that Future Skills is fully embedded across the University and is reflected, wherever appropriate, in our brand communications including in our website, reports, presentations, speeches, printed materials and events.

The Brand Guidance includes useful examples of how you can do this so that Kingston University's position as a leader in this area becomes a core part of our positioning.

Our Future Skills approach will ensure that our students and our staff are adaptable and ready to succeed in the rapidly changing digital-first world.

Through our Future Skills programme, we are ensuring all our students acquire the nine Future Skills graduate attributes key to career success: creative problem solving, digital competency, being enterprising, having a questioning mindset, adaptability, empathy, collaboration, resilience and self-awareness.

Find out more on our Future Skills webpage.

1.4

How our Values Framework brings our brand to life

Our Values Framework is designed to help us to bring our Town House Strategy to life.

Our Values play an important role in ensuring that everyone has the best possible experience at Kingston University.

Our Values direct our behaviours and help us to achieve our desired outcomes whether we are collaborating with our colleagues and students in the University, or with our partners, stakeholders, investors or visitors.

Our Values should be evident in everything we do including content, creating new assets or materials, organising an event or welcoming a visitor to the University.

Our Values are:

Ambitious
Inclusive
Innovative
Enterprising

The Values Framework provides a practical way to check that you are reinforcing our Values. You can use the Values Framework to check your approach and progress or to support you and your team.

Access the Values Framework on the Values homepage on SharePoint.

2.0

Brand control

2.1

Brands are systems of control

Brands control messages that enable organisations to establish themselves as unique and distinctive players in a particular marketplace.

Brands allow organisations to communicate messages quickly and effectively by combining visual, verbal and environmental information, including logotypes and images. In this way brands transcend verbal language barriers and can quickly connect with audiences both globally and locally.

To be effective, brands must be unique within their sector. Brands must be applied consistently and systematically so that their messages penetrate and stick. If brands are too varied, or if they keep changing, audiences will not ‘see’ them.

It takes time to build a brand and for audiences to become familiar with a brand. This means doing and saying the same things over and over again. Brands build relationships with their audiences over time, and they can be quickly ‘broken’ if they appear to be uncontrolled. Excessive variations or changes can cause audiences to lose trust in brands and to doubt the integrity and stability of organisations. Brands must be controlled if they are to be effective.

Brand leadership sits with the Board and Senior Leadership Team (SLT) at Kingston University. The Board, as the primary strategic decision-making body within the University, has oversight of all aspects of the University’s business and brand – visually, verbally and environmentally. This is supported by the SLT and led by the Brand, Communications and Public Affairs function which has responsibility for maintaining the brand strategy and for its development and implementation.

Brand resources and archive

The Brand, Communications and Public Affairs team maintains current versions of the Brand Guidance, which is regularly updated. Find the most up-to-date version on our Brand SharePoint homepage.

The University is a big institution that is constantly changing, so please help us by making the Brand, Communications and Public Affairs team aware of your needs if these are not currently covered. This will ensure the Brand Guidance is relevant, comprehensive and up-to-date.

Brand support

If you require further guidance and support, or if you have a specific requirement not covered in the Brand Guidance, you can access help at:

corporatecommunications@kingston.ac.uk

2.2

Brand inspiration, photography, copy, digital files, advice and support

Brand inspiration

The Brand, Communications and Public Affairs function maintains an archive of recently completed outputs including exhibitions and publications, presentations, signage, environmental graphics, social media and much more. These are available to use as design references.

If you require further information or would like advice about a communications project, or need support with key messages for awards submissions please contact

corporatecommunications@kingston.ac.uk

If you need support with images or digital files. Contact: D.Wood@kingston.ac.uk

Brand photography

The University maintains a database of photography that is licensed for use.

Copyright theft is a crime so please use photography that is licensed and approved by the Brand, Communications and Public Affairs function.

Guidance regarding commissioning new photography and videography can be found in Section 4.9 of this document.

Brand copy

Our brand narrative and key messages can be found in sections 3.3 – 3.4 and can be downloaded from our Brand SharePoint page. This will save time and effort and will ensure that all verbal communications about the University are consistent and reinforce our unique proposition within the higher education sector.

3.0

Our verbal brand

Our verbal brand shapes how we talk about ourselves, the language we wish to use and the key messages we want to project about Kingston University.

It helps us to communicate clearly with others and helps them to understand who we are and our ambitions.

Our verbal brand includes guidance regarding our name, tone of voice, our brand narrative, key messages and using social media.

3.1

Our name

When naming the University, the correct form is:

Kingston University London

The above form should be used for corporate, international website pages and external profiling at events, exhibitions and recruitment fairs. For these audiences it is important, in the first instance, to use London as there are several places called Kingston around the world and in the UK.

When talking about the University you should refer to it as Kingston University, not just Kingston which is a name of a place. We want to establish who and where we are from the start of any dialogue whether online or face-to-face.

Once the University's name has been used in full, 'Kingston University London', you can revert to using 'Kingston University' or 'the University' in the remainder of your communication.

'KU' should not be used on internal or external communications channels or in published documents. It should only be used as an informal shorthand in internal documents. Kingston University is the correct form for internal documents, UK media and social media.

When using 'the University' in a document (once you have used the correct form in full), there should always be a capital 'U' in 'University' to signify that you are referring to Kingston University and not a generic university.

You may refer to Kingston University as an institution in your communications. For example:

Kingston University is the UK's leading university for Future Skills. At the University we want our staff and students to be sought after for their knowledge, skills and ability to innovate.

If you would like support or advice on our house style, please contact: corporatecommunications@kingston.ac.uk

3.2

Tone of Voice

The Tone of Voice guidance provides useful information to help you find the right tone for all of your communications.

It is an essential tool to help you to bring the Kingston University brand to life.

We all make speedy, even unconscious, decisions about places, people, products or services based on how things look and how they are described. The words you choose really matter. Language has power and can help us to strengthen the University brand and navigate the most challenging situations.

The Tone of Voice (TOV) guidance is designed to help you to reinforce our position as the UK's leading university for Future Skills. It will also help you to bring the brand values to life. Our brand values are Ambitious, Inclusive, Innovative and Enterprising.

The TOV guidance provides the information you will need to help you communicate more powerfully and effectively with all audiences including students, colleagues, stakeholders, opinion-formers, collaborators, the media, partners and investors.

You can also use the TOV guidance when you are commissioning, or briefing others to support Kingston University, including writers, professional services providers, content producers, printers, filmmakers, advisers and agencies.

Using the TOV guidance

It is important to use the TOV guidance with all audiences. While the messages you wish to communicate may vary, the TOV should remain consistent to build trust in the University and to help you to connect with your key audiences. The starting point for all communications should be:

- who is it for?
- what is the best method for communicating?
e.g. face-to-face, online, filmed content, media / social media, events, exhibitions etc.
- what key messages do I need to communicate?
- are there previous, useful examples from the University that I can adapt for these purposes?

The overall tone you should be aiming to convey is:

Kingston University is a successful, welcoming university that is focused on excellence and is ambitious, inclusive, innovative and enterprising in everything it does.

Kingston
University

Our Values

Ambitious

3.2.2 TOV – core attributes

Everything about the University brand links back to the Town House Strategy and our Vision, Mission and Values.

Our Vision is for Kingston University to be sought after by students and staff as a place to further their ambitions and to have a positive impact on our communities.

Our Mission is to enhance students' life chances, support staff ambitions and strengthen Kingston University's impact on industry, policy and the professions to enable a sustainable future socially, economically and environmentally.

Our Values are:

- Ambitious
- Inclusive
- Innovative
- Enterprising

Based on the University's Vision, Mission, Values and reflecting its growing national and international reputation, excellence should be reflected across everything we do.

All communications should seek to reinforce our focus on excellence by ensuring content is well written, accurate and focused on the audience it is seeking to address. Kingston University should always communicate with authority and get the details right.

The Values Framework is a useful source of material when creating new content and will also help you to find and apply the right tone of voice.

The following section is focused on the Kingston University brand values. You can cut and paste any of the content or use this as a prompt to keep your content on brand and reflect the right tone of voice.

Ambitious

We are proud of being part of a high performing culture, where we strive for excellence in everything we do. We set high expectations of ourselves and each other to drive improvement, constantly seeking to be more innovative and enterprising in what we do and how we do it.

At Kingston University we:

- are ambitious for our staff and students
- are focused on the future
- seek opportunities to help our staff and students to become sought after for their knowledge, skills and ability to innovate
- seek collaborations with the world's most successful and ambitious places, organisations, businesses and individuals
- are proud of the University, of our staff, students and alumni

Inclusive

Everyone is valued and respected for who they are and can work and study in an environment that is free from any form of discrimination. Everyone has the right to be included and the responsibility to be inclusive.

At Kingston University we:

- are welcoming and hospitable
- are helpful
- listen with care and respond respectfully
- are generous – always keen to share our knowledge, experience and networks
- use language that is approachable and avoids jargon or unfamiliar technical language
- aim to ensure that all content including social media, video, website, exhibitions and events reflects the diversity of our student and staff population as well of those with whom we collaborate

Aside from times when formal or technical information is required, our communications – whether written or spoken – are clear, warm and relaxed.

Innovative

At Kingston University we are always looking for new ways of thinking and better ways of doing things. We never rest on our laurels. We set ourselves ambitious targets to be ahead of the game, using all the tools available to us.

At Kingston University we:

- aim to ensure that everyone benefits from being in a culture that promotes innovation
- aim to use the most creative channels to get our messages across
- are committed to developing creative problem solving skills and digital competency – this is reflected in the content and materials we produce

Enterprising

We seek out opportunities and transform them into innovative solutions and new ventures that lead to impact, growth, diversification and improvement.

At Kingston University we:

- are motivated to apply our knowledge and resources to explore new and better ways to deliver products and services with partners across the UK and internationally
- are proud of our history and heritage and inspired by our staff and students and the contributions they make to the economy, society and the environment
- are consistently ranked one of top universities in the UK for graduate start-ups and recognised as the UK's leading university for Future Skills, ensuring that students develop the attributes they will need to succeed in life and in their careers
- challenge ourselves to always communicate effectively using appropriate channels, new technologies and techniques to align our events, campaigns with people who share our values

Help and support

More information about the values and how to put the values into action can be found in our Values Framework.

3.3

Brand narrative

The brand narrative is the Kingston University story. It is a key resource that can be copied, edited and cut and pasted. Its purpose is to keep the core messages about the University consistent and to save time that would otherwise be spent in creating copy from scratch.

Brand narrative

Kingston University London is an ambitious institution with a growing international reputation founded on its transformative Future Skills approach. This progressive model of education is designed to help all new graduates and our staff to become sought after for their knowledge, skills and ability to innovate.

Research carried out by Kingston University has informed our Future Skills programme that enables every student on every undergraduate programme to acquire the key graduate attributes most valued by employers. These essential life skills have been identified as creative problem solving, digital competency, being enterprising, having a questioning mindset, adaptability, empathy, collaboration, resilience and self-awareness.

Our radical new model of education builds on our reputation as an enterprising and creative institution that is inspired by our history stretching back to 1899 and by the ambition and diversity of our students.

Through our Knowledge Exchange and Research Institutes (KERIs), we are driving advances in research and knowledge exchange, harnessing our expertise to address societal issues and growing the impact and visibility of our activity.

We're proud of our beautiful location in the historic Royal Borough of Kingston upon Thames and our close ties with our local communities. With four diverse campus locations, we offer a distinctive experience for students and staff who can enjoy the freedom of a safe, relaxing campus within easy reach of Central London and all its attractions.

Kingston University has a long-standing tradition of successful collaborations with global brands such as Adobe, the John Lewis Partnership, Royal Mail, Cisco, IP Group, Coca-Cola, Unilever, Mastercard, J.P. Morgan, TikTok and Barclays. This enables us to continually strengthen our enterprising and inclusive ethos with world class organisations as well as with SMEs, investors and partners.

Our ambition is clearly outlined in our Town House Strategy, inspired by the University's internationally-acclaimed and award-winning Town House building.

The Strategy guides our approach to everything we do including collaborations across the University and with inspiring businesses, public sector and regional partners.

We're moving quickly – keeping pace with changes in society and the economy so that we can welcome and support students and enhance their life chances.

We are also supporting our staff ambitions and strengthening our impact on industry, policy and the professions to enable a more sustainable future socially, economically and environmentally.

A downloadable version of the Kingston University brand narrative can be found on the Brand SharePoint page.

Key messages

An important part of Kingston University's brand is the language that is used – including the messages we communicate to support our strategic ambitions. These key messages can be used across all communication channels and all content developed on behalf of the University.

When developing content please select the messages that are most appropriate for the audience you are addressing.

Kingston University is:

1. The UK's leading university for Future Skills – enabling every student, on every undergraduate programme, to acquire the nine key Future Skills identified and most valued by employers. These essential life skills are: creative problem solving; digital competency; being enterprising; having a questioning mindset; adaptability; empathy; collaboration; resilience and self-awareness
2. Rated TEF Gold, one of an élite group of just 26 higher education providers from across the United Kingdom awarded Gold ratings in all three TEF categories
3. Respected for its research. Some 70 per cent of our research is rated world leading or internationally excellent and our knowledge exchange collaborations are helping businesses innovate. We are growing our impact through our Knowledge Exchange and Research Institutes (KERIs), concentrated around our areas of excellence
4. Ambitious – collaborating with successful global brands including the John Lewis Partnership, Royal Mail, Cisco, TikTok, IP Group, Coca-Cola, Unilever, Mastercard, J.P. Morgan and Barclays
5. Home to a diverse community with more than 20,000 students from 140 countries across the world
6. Innovative – driving a progressive model of education to help new graduates and staff become sought after for their knowledge, skills and ability to innovate
7. Enterprising – ranked one of the top higher education institutions in the UK for graduate start-ups (source: Higher Education Business and Community Interaction Survey)
8. Home to the award-winning Kingston University Town House – a highly original, prizewinning work of architecture that enables quiet reading, loud performance, research and learning to co-exist
9. Playing a pivotal role across its communities and through partnerships with industry and the public sector, we are advancing knowledge and driving economic growth and impact locally, in the United Kingdom and across the globe
10. Situated in the beautiful Royal Borough of Kingston upon Thames with a history stretching back to 1899

Using social media

One way we can all support the Kingston University brand is through social media. Throughout the academic year, there are thousands of opportunities to share what the University is engaged with through an ever-increasing number of social media channels and networks. The University has a team responsible for the institution's profile across key social media channels.

The University has a combined reach of 414,000 across its social media channels. The main channels used are:

1. Facebook
2. Instagram
3. LinkedIn
4. Threads
5. TikTok
6. X
7. YouTube

There are links to these channels in this section of the Brand Guidance.

While each channel performs a slightly different function, everyone can link to these channels to follow, like and share information. It's an easy way to find out about events, exhibitions, training and development, graduations – or just checking in to see what colleagues are doing across our four campuses.

When engaging with our social media channels – it's always wise to stop, think, check before you post. Remember the Kingston University values:

- Ambitious
- Inclusive
- Innovative
- Enterprising

Try to support these values when you are posting - it all helps to increase the profile of the University, its staff and students and to establish our position as the UK's leading University for Future Skills.

Here are some quick hints and tips to help you stay on track.

Content

Keep it short and informative – you can insert a link to a longer read such as an article, academic paper or presentation

Hashtags #

- If you are attending an event – find out what the official event hashtags are
- Ask yourself what your goals are – who are you trying to connect with by using the #
- Consider using some of our commonly used University hashtags where appropriate. These include:
#FutureSkills
#KingstonUniResearch
#KingstonUni

Visuals

If you are taking photography at an event – make sure that the background of your photo / video content is clear and uncluttered. Check that there is nothing in the background that could be offensive or may include content that is owned by someone else e.g. photography, video content or illustrations. If you have permission to include content remember to credit the originator as required.

Do

- Remember that you are representing the University
- Get it right – make sure the information you share is accurate
- Credit any images or content that you share – always respect copyright
- Seek permission / consent of anyone featured in your posts
- Be truthful and take care with the information you share

Don't

- Be negative – avoid getting drawn in to sharing negative or disrespectful content
- Post excessively – spam can annoy others
- Share every aspect of your life

Take your time. Before posting, check...

- Is my post informative?
- Have I used the relevant hashtags?
- Have I credited the photographer?
- Does this support the University's ambitions?

Our visual brand

Brands communicate verbally, visually and environmentally.

This section is focused on the visual elements of the Kingston University brand.

Logotype

A logotype is a shorthand way of communicating that combines text with an image, graphic shape or mark.

Kingston University's logotype positions the University's name within a square. The text is always ranged left, aligned to the left hand margin.

The square shape may be interpreted as a stable, ordered, solid, rational shape. It might also be a metaphorical building block or a mortar board. It has connotations of fairness, honesty, stability and protection.

The san-serif typeface used within the logotype is Helvetica Neue.

Designed in 1983 Helvetica Neue is a reworking for digital print applications of the original Helvetica typeface designed in 1957 by the Swiss typographer Max Miedinger.

The Neue Helvetica typeface family is designed to appear neutral and to be legible across a huge range of sizes and applications. Conceptually, it is a cornerstone of the Modern Movement in design and architecture, created as a herald for a brave new world.

If Helvetica Neue is not available typefaces called Arial or Inter should be used.

The logotype for Kingston University London is presented within a dark square. The text 'Kingston University' is in a bold, white, sans-serif font, with 'Kingston' on the first line and 'University' on the second line. Below this, the word 'London' is written in a smaller, white, sans-serif font on a third line.

Primary logotype

The primary logotype is available in a range of sizes where the ratio between the text and square is fixed to ensure it remains recognisable and legible wherever it is used. Always use versions of the logotype supplied by the University. Contact D.wood@kingston.ac.uk for logotype files.

Exclusion zone

Always place the logotype in an uncluttered space to ensure it is visible, legible and not confused with other design elements.

The minimum clear space around the Kingston University, is the top of the 'U' to the top of the black box.

Minimum sizes

Ensure the logotype is reproduced at size that is legible – consider the limitations of the output media.

Incorrect use

Do not change the colour, tint or opacity of the logotype

Do not stretch the logotype

Do not rotate the logotype

To maintain visibility and legibility ensure there is sufficient contrast between the logotype and the backgrounds on which it appears.

The colour examples here illustrate correct usage.

Primary logotypes file directory

Kingston University primary logotypes have been prepared for print and digital processes, including spot colour printing and indexed colour. These can also be converted to CMYK process and RGB colour modes as required.

The file names for the supplied digital artwork are shown here next to a description.

EPS

Files ending in 'eps' are vector artwork files. When used with appropriate design applications (e.g. Adobe Illustrator and InDesign) they are easily editable (e.g. to change colours) and can be scaled to any size while maintaining quality (resolution). These can be used for internal office communications and will typically be used by professional designers.

JPG

Files ending in 'jpg' are high-resolution (300dpi) RGB files. These are suitable for internal communications by home / office applications. The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

PNG

Files ending in 'png' are low-resolution (72dpi) indexed files. These are optimised for web and on-screen use but can be used for internal office communications (PowerPoint, Word, etc). The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

Secondary, tertiary and additional versions of the logotype

A range of secondary logotypes featuring the primary logotype with a text device that accommodates a spectrum of Faculties, Schools, Departments and entities within the University's domain. This arrangement of primary logotype and text device ensures that the University's ownership of these entities is clearly communicated.

A list of Faculties, Schools, Departments and other Kingston University entities can be found in the appendix. Always use the correct name for each of these entities. Likewise, always ensure course names are correct.

Please contact our design team if you require a secondary logotype D.wood@kingston.ac.uk

Exclusion zone

Kingston University secondary logotype

Always place the logotype and in an uncluttered space to ensure it is visible, legible and not confused with other design elements.

Logotype

The minimum clear space around the secondary or tertiary logotype is 'X', where 'X' is equivalent to the height of the stacked text 'Kingston University London' as it appears in the logotype.

4.2.5 Subsequent versions of the logotypes two colour positive and reversed examples

The words 'Faculty of' and 'School of', 'Department of' and 'Centre for' are always included in the name.

For legacy reasons, Kingston School of Art differs from these naming conventions.

Minimum sizes

Secondary logotypes examples

Ensure the logotype is reproduced at size that is legible – consider the limitations of the output media.

Kingston University Subsequent logotype – examples

Ensure the logotype is reproduced at size that is legible – consider the limitations of the output media.

4.2.7

Subsequent two colour logotypes file directory

Kingston University London tertiary logotypes have been prepared for print and digital processes, including spot colour printing and indexed colour. These can also be converted to CMYK process and RGB colour modes as required.

The file names for the supplied digital artwork are shown here next to a description.

EPS

Files ending in 'eps' are vector artwork files. When used with appropriate design applications (e.g. Adobe Illustrator and InDesign) they are easily editable (e.g. to change colours) and can be scaled to any size while maintaining quality (resolution). These can be used for internal office communications and will typically be used by professional designers.

JPG

Files ending in 'jpg' are high-resolution (300dpi) RGB files. These are suitable for internal communications by home / office applications. The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

PNG

Files ending in 'png' are low-resolution (72dpi) indexed files. These are optimised for web and on-screen use but can be used for internal office communications (PowerPoint, Word, etc). The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

4.3

Showing support and partnership with external organisations

Logotypes may be used to communicate the University's support for or partnership with third party organisations and initiatives.

While the default logotype is the Primary logotype (see 4.1), if a Faculty, School, Department or other University organisation is the partnering entity, please use the correct version of the logotype for that entity.

Logotypes should be used at a size commensurate with the degree of support or partnership given in relation to both the partner entity and to the support or partnership expressed by others. The aim is to make the degree of partnership or support clear.

In instances where many partnership entities must be represented arrange them in a 'logo park', as shown in the example above, so that they are contained in an ordered way.

Use a keyline or coloured panel within which the logotypes may be arranged.

4.4

Typefaces for print and environmental applications

The san-serif typeface, or font, used within Kingston University's logotype is Helvetica Neue.

Designed in 1983 Helvetica Neue was as a reworking, for digital print applications, of the original Helvetica typeface designed in 1957 by the Swiss typographer Max Miedinger.

The Neue Helvetica typeface family is designed to appear neutral and to be legible across a huge range of sizes and applications. Conceptually, it is a cornerstone of the Modern Movement in design and architecture, created as the herald of a brave new world.

Helvetica Neue Bold is used for titles. Helvetica Neue Regular is used for body copy.

V.1 March 2025

If Helvetica Neue is not installed in your system a font license must be purchased to legally use the typeface. Font licenses are non-transferable and each user must have a license.

If Helvetica Neue is not available typefaces called Arial or Inter should be used.

Arial was designed in 1982 by Robin Nicholas and Patricia Saunders. It was designed to allow documents designed in Helvetica to be displayed and printed with the same design features, line breaks and page breaks without the need to purchase a Helvetica font license.

Inter is an Open Source typeface that is free to download and use. The Inter typeface project was led by Swedish software designer Rasmus Andersson.

Helvetica Neue LT Std may also be used. This is a licensed font that is not available for free download. It may be obtained from Adobe Fonts or via an Adobe Creative Cloud subscription.

4.4.2 Typographic approach

Typography should be left aligned.

When highlighting sections of copy in titles, sub-titles, quotations or paragraphs of main copy, use a stroke or solid block of colour behind the text as a design feature as shown in the examples here.

The stroke weight or height of the solid block of colour behind the copy should match the text leading value (or vertical space between the lines of type) so highlighted sections, when they appear over a number of lines, are joined up.

Highlighted text should be indented so its solid block below is aligned with the column or left margin.

Below: Typography example with 18pt text / 22pt leading

“ I love enabling staff and students to realise their potential through innovative practice and exploring how to tackle global issues creatively in new ways.”

Dr Baljit Kaur Thatti,
Head of Department of Chemical and Pharmaceutical Sciences and Race Equality Charter Co-Chair

Above: Typography example of highlighted (reversed) text on pull up banner

킹스턴 대학교는 그림같이 아름다운
킹스턴어폰템스 로열 자치구와 주변에
4개의 캠퍼스를 갖고 있습니다.

이곳은 왕이 살아가 살아 숨 쉬는 곳입니다. 잉글랜드 최초의 통치자가 전정된 잉글랜드의 왕으로 여겨지는 메셀스 왕 (King Athelstan)이 서기 925년에 이곳에서 즉위했습니다. 이 외에도 킹스턴어폰템스는 많은 왕들이 즉위한 곳으로 유명하며 헨리 8세가 살았던 햄프턴 코트 궁전 (Hampton Court Palace) 및 런던의 8대 왕인 찰스 2세 (Charles II)가 살았던 곳 (Richmond Park)이 있습니다.

킹스턴 대학교는 1992년에 설립되었으며 그 역사는 1899년으로 거슬러 올라갑니다. 킹스턴 대학교는 근교 한인이 모여 사는 자치구와 오랜 연연을 이어가고 있습니다. 런던 외곽의 뉴몰든 (New Malden)에 있는 생동감 넘치는 한인 커뮤니티는 유럽에서 가장 큰 규모의 한인 커뮤니티입니다. 킹스턴은 아름다운 강변 산책로, 절경을 자랑하는 공원들, 세계 각국의 음식을 맛볼 수 있는 맛집들, 전통을 자랑하는 영국 왕들로 독특한 분위기를 자아냅니다. 12세기로 거슬러 올라가는 역사 깊은 시장에서는 신선한 식자재를 판매하고, 스카임리시안 상점들과 현대적인 레저 공간이 가득합니다. 선별된 런던을 오가는 편리한 교통 덕분에 이곳에 사는 이들은 런던의 모든 것을 쉽게 접하면서 안전한 마을에서의 삶을 누립니다.

Kingston University has four campus locations in and around the picturesque Royal Borough of Kingston upon Thames.

The area is steeped in history. King Athelstan, the first ruler who could truly be considered the King of England, was crowned in Kingston in 925 AD. Kingston upon Thames is famous for the many Kings that have been crowned here as well as being close to Hampton Court Palace, the former home to King Henry VIII and the 2,500-acre Richmond Park – one of London's eight Royal Parks.

While Kingston University was established in 1992 its development dates back to 1899. The University has longstanding links with the borough's thriving Korean community. Nearby, New Malden is a lively suburb that is home to the largest Korean community in Europe. Kingston's unique atmosphere is shaped by beautiful riverside walks, stunning parks and an enticing selection of international restaurants and traditional English pubs. The historic market, dating back to the 12th century, is open daily, selling fresh produce surrounded by stylish shops and modern leisure facilities. With excellent travel links to central London, residents enjoy the benefits of a safe neighbourhood experience with easy access to all that London has to offer.

킹스턴 대학교는 지역사회 곳곳

커뮤니티 지원 활동은 킹스턴 대학교의 핵심 사업입니다. 킹스턴 대학교는 본교와 사우스 템즈 칼리지 (South Thames College), 킹스턴 로열 자치구 간의 파트너십 아래 2010년에 설립된 킹스턴 교육 자산 단체 (KET)와 밀접한 협력합니다. KET의 창립 멤버 기관들은 함께 노력하여 자치구에서 절실히 필요한 중등교육을 '킹스 아카데미' (The Kingston Academy)라는 이름으로 설립함으로써 해당 자치구 안에서의 교육의 기회를 강화해나가고 있습니다. 킹스턴 대학교와 동일 자치구 안에 소재하는 학교들 간의 긴밀한 협업을 통해 어린 학생들에게 고등 교육의 혜택을 보다 일찍 이해할 수 있도록 지원하는 활동과 학생들의 성공을 지원하기 위한 멘토링도 함께 진행하고 있습니다.

킹스턴 대학교는 비즈니스 개선 지구 기관인 킹스턴 파스트 (Kingston First)와 킹스턴 상공회의소를 통해 킹스턴 로열 자치구 내 비즈니스 커뮤니티 속에서 활발한 활동을 하고 있습니다. 우리는 거주지에도 밀터로도 정기 넘치는 킹스턴을 가꾸어 나가고 비즈니스와 자치구 주민 모두가 나날이 번창할 수 있는 기회를 풍족하게 줄 수 있도록 최선을 다하고자 합니다.

학계와 학생들은 주요 기관 및 산업계와 긴밀히 협력하여 혁신적인 전염과 새로운 시스템을 개발하고, 이들이 소비자 트렌드의 새로운 선봉에 테크놀로지의 속도에 맞출 수 있도록 지원합니다. 이러한 지원은 킹스턴 지역에 본사를 두고 있는 Unilever나 Lidl 사와 같은 글로벌 비즈니스 업체와 우리가 보유하고 있는 전문성을 공유하는 활동도 포함합니다.

Kingston University plays a pivotal role in advancing knowledge and driving economic growth and impact throughout our community, the United Kingdom and across the globe.

Community outreach is central to our University ethos. We are a founding member of the Kingston Educational Trust (KET), an educational charity established in 2010 as a partnership between Kingston University, South Thames College and the Royal Borough of Kingston. Trust members have worked together to enhance educational opportunities in the borough by setting up a much-needed new secondary school, The Kingston Academy. Our relationship with schools across the borough includes activities to give pupils an early understanding of the benefits of higher education as well as mentoring to support their success.

Kingston University plays an active role in the borough's business community through its membership of Kingston First, our Business Improvement District, and the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. We are committed to ensuring Kingston is a vibrant area to live and work, full of opportunities for both businesses and residents to thrive.

Academics and students collaborate closely with major organisations and industries to develop new concepts and systems, helping them to keep pace with consumer trends and emerging technologies. This includes sharing our expertise with leading businesses such as Unilever and Lidl, who are headquartered in Kingston.

지식 교류 – 혁신과 영향력
Knowledge exchange
– innovation and impact

킹스턴 대학교는 지식 교류 활동을
늘리고 강화하는데 강한 의지를 갖고
있으며 이러한 교류 활동을 통해 오랫동안
지속되는 교류 관계를 구축하고 영향력
있는 협업을 이루는 것을 무엇보다 중요시
생각합니다. 지식 교류 활동은 우리가
다양한 기업이나 조직과 함께 전문 지식
및 아이디어를 공유할 기회를
제공함으로써 사회에 긍정적인 변화를
가져올 수 있도록 합니다.

산업계 파트너들과 독특한 파트너십을 맺고 전위적 기업의 성장을 단단하게 구축하는 것은 킹스턴 대학교에서 집중하고 있는 핵심 부문 중 하나입니다. 이 분야에 대한 킹스턴 대학교의 전문성은 최근 발표된 지식 교류 프레임워크 (Knowledge Exchange Framework)에서 인정받았습니다.

킹스턴 대학교는 지식 교류 파트너십을 통해서 대체로운 비즈니스 업체와 협업하고 있으며 기업들이 혁신하고 그에 따른 추가적인 영향력을 행사하도록 돕고 있습니다. 인공지능을 활용하여 건설 재기회를 최소화하고, 대기 오염 측정 및 모니터링을 위해 혁신적인 알고리즘을 적용한 프로그램도 차기 발표 프로젝트 중 하나입니다.

Kingston University is committed to increasing and enhancing its knowledge exchange activity. Longstanding relationships and impactful collaborations are central to this approach. They enable us to share expertise and ideas with a range of businesses and organisations and make a positive difference to society.

Developing strong relationships with industry partners and building on established entrepreneurial strengths are among our key focuses. Our expertise in these areas has been recognised in the latest Knowledge Exchange Framework (KEF).

Through knowledge exchange partnerships, the University works with a range of companies to help them innovate and make additional impact. Projects have included using artificial intelligence to minimise construction waste and applying machine learning algorithms to help measure and monitor air pollution.

많은 기업과 기관, 정부 관련 조직에서
킹스턴 대학교와의 파트너십을 원하는
이유는 협업을 통해서 지식을 강화하고자
하는 우리의 의지와 노력에 공감하기
때문입니다.

킹스턴 대학교는 동일 자치구에 소재한 기업과 조직뿐 아니라 같은 지역 내, 영국 내, 나아가 국제적 수준에서 비즈니스를 지원해 온 오랜 역사를 갖고 있습니다. 우리는 소비자 행동, 중소기업, 대입, 인간과 공공 기관에 이르기까지 각기 다른 단계에 있는 다양한 규모의 기업과 협력해 오고 있습니다.

킹스턴 대학교는 새로운 테크놀로지, 발명과 발견을 꾸준히 지원해 왔고 기업과 협력하여 리서치 결과를 상업적으로 현실화하기도 했습니다.

킹스턴 대학교 학생들은 학계 전문가들이 진행하는 해커톤 워크숍에 참여하여 공공, 민간, 제3 부문 기관에서 담당하고 있는 도전 과제에 대해 정기적으로 솔루션을 개발하고 있습니다.

비즈니스 업체는 리서치 계약, 박사 또는 석사 과정, 정부 지원 지식 이전 파트너십 (Knowledge Transfer Partnership) 프로젝트를 통해 본교의 리서치와 전문 지식을 접할 수 있습니다. 또한 킹스턴 대학교 교수진은 기업들 위해 박사후 연구원이나 교수들이 보다 깊은 지식과 통찰력을 제공하여 기업의 특정 도전 과제를 해결하는 데 도움을 제공합니다.

Many businesses, organisations and government bodies want to partner with us because they share our commitment to advancing knowledge through collaboration.

Kingston University has a strong track record of supporting businesses and organisations locally, as well as at a regional, national and international level. We have worked with companies at all stages of growth, from start-ups and small and medium-sized enterprises to large corporate firms and organisations across the private and public sectors.

We have supported the development of new technologies, inventions and discoveries and are experienced in working with businesses to turn research findings into commercial realities.

Our students regularly develop solutions for challenges facing public, private and third sector organisations through hackathon workshops facilitated by academic experts.

Businesses can access research and expertise through contract research, PhD or Master's studentships and government-funded Knowledge Transfer Partnership projects. Our academics can also act as consultants for businesses to help solve particular challenges and provide deeper knowledge and insight.

Colour

4.5.1

Primary brand colours

There are two primary brand colours—Black and BlueBlack.

The default primary brand colour is Black.

Kingston University has a distinguished history. It is the UK's leading university for Future Skills and an esteemed institution with big ambitions to grow its reputation, including for research.

In order to achieve its aims the University's communications must be heard and understood. The messages are potent and compelling and do not require to be overly decorated with colour. Black contrasted on white is a bold and resolute way to reinforce the gravity of the University's ambitions.

The high levels of contrast provided by black on white enhances legibility and overcomes any partiality relating to colour.

In many cultures black and white also has connotations of high quality.

This black and white approach may also be used, with discretion, in photography and videography where it is important that the viewers' attention is focused on the narrative content of images.

An optional primary brand colour called Blueblack may be used. This is a very black tone of dark blue that is subtle and should be used in printed outputs only.

Speech box device

The speech box device is a development of the square shape used in the University logotype.

The speech box device can be used for Town House Strategy outputs.

The speech box device can be also be used in Kingston University outputs where the University is 'in conversation' with internal or external audiences. Typical scenarios include the Our Values toolkit where the University is explaining the Values Framework to its staff, or a quotation where a person is talking directly to the audience.

The addition of a 'tail' transforms the square into a container for speech, images, layouts and ideas and it also gives it dynamism and direction as the tail can face left or right. The tail should always be on the bottom of the box.

In this way the speech box describes the social, collaborative, proactive character of the University.

The speech box can be coloured and it can be rendered as a solid, a tint or graduated tint or an outline. If the speech box is rendered as an outline the width of the line must be consistent throughout the shape.

The purpose of the speech box device is flexible. It can be used to contain images or text including quotations. It can also be used, as a means of expressing the relationship between the University and other entities.

Square fade device

The square fade device is a development of the square shape used in the University logotype. It can be used to transition one image to another, or as a pattern.

Photography and videography

Kingston University is a serious and ambitious university.

Brands are about being unique and distinctive. The University should avoid using stock imagery and instead should commission original content.

Great photography communicates quickly and can overcome the need for text. A single great image may communicate more effectively than any number of words. It is therefore more effective and efficient to commission fewer images of the highest possible quality.

Photography and videography should be commissioned from reliable professional sources and supported by experienced creative direction and detailed briefing. It is reasonable to expect to invest in an amount of post-production digital retouching, to remove blemishes such as graffiti or debris.

Videography should be commissioned from an experienced documentary film maker and not from a stills photographer.

Hand-held images taken by amateurs should be avoided, not least because the University has a reputation for producing high quality art school educated graduates. In order to compete and win at the highest level the University should behave professionally and have the highest standards. From an external perspective, the University's outputs are judged against those of other professional organisations and should stand up to comparison with them.

Students should not be expected to produce work of the same quality as experienced professionals.

Photography and videography should communicate the University's desired 'future state' including its Values and evidence showing that it is the 'UK's leading university for Future Skills'.

Photography and videography should be from a 'fly on the wall' perspective, looking in on the action and drama in a style that could be called 'reportage'.

Images should aim to:

- demonstrate 'Future Skills in action' in Kingston University (digital, collaborative, innovative and creative problem solving)
- embody the University's values: Ambitious, Inclusive, Enterprising and Innovative
- be dynamic and active and lead the viewer into the action that is the focus of the shot
- reflect the focus and content of the copy and or the brief
- perform as a set so items are homogenous
- reflect the diversity of the student and staff population
- demonstrate what 'inclusion' looks (and feels) like, including gender balance and age
- focus on those that are most candid and authentic (and NOT posed or staring down the lens)
- evidence the diversity of learning opportunities
- have the focus of the shot towards to top half-centre of the frame to allow for cropping and application of text
- be in a variety of formats—portrait and landscape
- please note that photography / video content for use on websites should be shot in landscape or panoramic view
- avoid or remove litter, bins, graffiti, boring ceilings and floors
- have carefully considered backgrounds, props and backdrops

Section 4.9 - Photography and videography

Brand Guidance
V.1 March 2025

All photography and videography should be attributed and the University should be careful to obtain the rights to use commissioned images for their stated purpose and for a stated duration. Using images in ways not stated in the terms of the contract is a breach of contract and may be illegal. Never use moving or still images without the permission of the originator.

The Corporate Communications team has a list of professional photographers and videographers.

Email

If you need to access a permission form or see a sample contract.

4.9.1

Commissioning architectural photography

Always engage a photographer who specialises in architecture and building interiors.

In order to properly photograph architecture and building interiors specialist lighting and lenses may be required, including to ensuring verticals and horizontals are parallel.

Photographs may be used ONLY for the purpose for which they are commissioned, solely for use by the University unless otherwise agreed. Photographs MUST be credited as agreed by the University and the photographer. The University is wholly responsible for controlling the use and distribution of its commissioned photography and will be liable for any misuse. This applies to photography appearing in both print and online.

Prepare a checklist prior to your discussions with photographers.

Some of the information included in your checklist may be included as part of the contract between both parties.

Arrange access to the location including parking and security clearance and, if required, permission from neighbouring properties. Ensure the relevant areas are accessible and that the photographer has contact information for the location manager and that they have been briefed and any pre-arrangements undertaken prior to the photoshoot.

The client is responsible for the tidiness and appearance of the location to be photographed. Be aware that removing signage, obstacles, rubbish and graffiti digitally may be impossible or expensive. In order to give you an accurate quotation for the work the photographer will require the following information:

About your needs

- Consider the number of images you need
- Consider the format of the images – are they portrait or landscape?
- Consider the file formats and resolution required for the final application of the images
- If images are to be cropped, or have text over them, describe the proportions of the shots required
- Share any style guidance and examples with the photographer
- Be clear about the purpose of the images – if they are a record of a completed project, or if they have a promotional purpose
- Do you plan to share photos with a third party? If so, for what purpose? – this is vitally important to ensure you agree relevant permissions from the photographer
- Be very clear about your deadlines including when and how the location can be accessed and when you need delivery of the photographs

About the location

- Obtain the precise address and location of the site – this will allow the photographer to ascertain parking and unloading restrictions and any obstacles that may inhibit, assess to light or sunlight
- A site reconnaissance may be required and a time and cost allowance included for this
- Do you need props, including furniture, for interior shots?
- Consider implications of branded clothing to avoid extensive retouching after the shoot
- Consider work patterns and plan the shoot to avoid fire alarms, changes of shift workers, lunchtimes etc

Photography guidance

- Is it a secure site?
- Is it an industrial site?
- Is there public access and / or children in the area – ensure you obtain the necessary permissions
- If people are to be included consider inclusion, diversity guidance and advice on suitable clothing for the shoot
- Is the site subject to particular Health and Safety requirements?
- How many buildings are to be photographed?
- Do you require internal or external images or both?
- Are there particular features to be photographed, such as entrances?
- Are landscaping, paths and roads to be included?
- Do you want daytime or evening shots?
- Do you want to show a particular season?
– consider bare trees, brown grass, reflections on wet pavements and rain on glass
- Do you want movement to be expressed, such as by a long exposure of people moving through a space, or are the shots devoid of people?
- Consider the weather – plan the year ahead and / or wait for clear skies that make for great daytime and evening shots

5.0 Town House Strategy

5.1

Town House Strategy visual brand

Town House Strategy

While the Town House Strategy shares many features with Kingston University's visual brand it also has its own distinctive features that are described in this section.

About the Town House Strategy

Please refer to section 1.2

How our Town House Strategy embodies our Brand.

5.2

Primary logotype

Visual brand

The University's Town House Strategy visual brand is constructed of various elements including the logotype, supporting typefaces and colour palette.

The logotype is a valuable corporate asset. It is a unique item of artwork and must never be recreated or typeset.

To maintain visibility and legibility ensure there is sufficient contrast between the logotype and the backgrounds on which it appears.

The colour examples here illustrate correct use.

5.3

Town House Strategy brand colours

In addition to black and white the colour palette contains the only colours to be used in the Town House Strategy.

- Colours are specified as follows:
- PMS (Pantone Matching System) for print
 - CMYK / 4-colour process (cyan, magenta, yellow, black) for print
 - RGB (red, green, blue) for on-screen use.

5.5

Town House Strategy file directory

Town House Strategy logotypes have been prepared for print and digital processes, including spot colour printing and indexed colour. These can also be converted to CMYK process and RGB colour modes as required.

The file names for the supplied digital artwork are shown here next to a description.

EPS

Files ending in 'eps' are vector artwork files. When used with appropriate design applications (e.g. Adobe Illustrator and InDesign) they are easily editable (e.g. to change colours) and can be scaled to any size while maintaining quality (resolution). These can be used for internal office communications and will typically be used by professional designers.

JPG

Files ending in 'jpg' are high-resolution (300dpi) RGB files. These are suitable for internal communications by home / office applications. The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

PNG

Files ending in 'png' are low-resolution (72dpi) indexed files. These are optimised for web and on-screen use but can be used for internal office communications (PowerPoint, Word, etc). The quality (resolution) of these logotypes will decrease when scaled above 100% in size and should never be used at sizes above 100%.

Top tips to keep your presentation on brand

Before you start, check out the Kingston University Brand SharePoint page. It's there to make life easier. We will be developing and providing a range of:

- examples of approved presentations that you can use / adapt
- PowerPoint templates for you to use with your own content

Photography

Please use licensed and approved photography. When inserting photography do not stretch the image to fit. If you need support with images or digital files contact: D.wood@kingston.ac.uk

Creating a successful presentation

Before starting your presentation think about:

- your audience – are they well informed / new to your subject / the University?
- numbers – how many people are expected to attend / how big is the room?
- technology – is it compatible with your presentation / your tech?
- timing – how long is your speaking slot?
- language – does everyone speak English? Do you need translation services?

Go to the Brand SharePoint pages to access PowerPoint templates and examples that you can adapt for your own use.

Creating a narrative flow

- Plan your content
- How do you create the right impact / connection with your title slide?
- What points do you need / want to make?
- In what order do you want to make these points?
- How do you want to conclude – is there a final point you wish to make?
- How might you use your final slide to make connections / contacts / secure support or collaboration?

The below slides from our core narrative PowerPoint presentation highlight how to use our template:

Our default typeface when using PowerPoint is Arial.
